The Index

The Solactive Canada Bank 40 AR Index ("Index") aims to track the gross total return performance of the Solactive Canada Bank TR Index (the "Underlying Index"), calculated in CAD, subject to an adjusted return factor of 40 index points per annum that will be calculated daily in arrears (the "Adjusted Return Factor"). The Underlying Index is a gross total return index that reflects the price return of its constituent securities and the reinvestment of all dividends and distributions paid in respect of such securities (without deduction of any withholding tax or other amounts to which an investor holding the constituent securities of the Underlying Index would typically be exposed) across all the constituent securities of the Underlying Index.

Note: The Index and the Underlying Index have limited performance histories. The Index and the Underlying Index were first published on January 27, 2022 and July 28, 2017 respectively. Accordingly, there is negligible trading history for the Index and limited trading history of the Underlying Index. Levels of the Index published for a period prior to the January 27, 2022 (the "Launch Date") have been back-tested. Past performance of the Index is not indicative of future performance.

Underlying Index

The Underlying Index is a free-float market capitalization index. The methodology of the Underlying Index provides that the constituent securities fulfil all of the following criteria: listed on the Toronto Stock Exchange that have their primary listing in Canada, classified by the Index Sponsor as "Major Banks" or "Regional Banks", security market capitalization of at least $4 billion, and a minimum average daily trading value of $10 million across all Canadian exchanges, as calculated by the Index Sponsor. The Underlying Index is a gross total return index that reflects the price changes of its constituent securities and the reinvestment of all dividends and distributions paid in respect of such securities (without deduction of any withholding tax or other amounts to which an investor holding the constituent securities of the Underlying Index would typically be exposed) across all the constituent securities of the Underlying Index. For the calculation of the level of the Underlying Index, any dividends or other distributions paid on the constituent securities of the Underlying Index are assumed to be reinvested across all the constituent securities of the Underlying Index.

The following table sets forth the top companies that comprise the Underlying Index as of February 13, 2023.

Return Examples

The return examples below are provided for illustration purposes only. These examples assume that a Holder has purchased a Deposit Note with an aggregate principal amount of US$100.00, that a Holder holds the Deposit Notes until the Deposit Notes are automatically called or until Maturity if the Deposit Notes are not automatically called and that no Extraordinary Event has occurred during the term of the Deposit Notes. The three scenarios are hypothetical and are not estimates or forecasts of expected changes in the Closing Price of the Securities from the Trade Date to and including the Final Valuation Date.

Scenario 1: Negative Scenario

- AutoCall Level = 0%
 - The Closing Level is below the AutoCall Level on all Valuation Dates during the term of the Deposit Notes so the Deposit Notes are not automatically called by Bank of Montreal and no Variable Return is paid.

Example 1: Negative Return Example

Observation Date	Index Return	Fixed Return	Excess Return
Issue Date
1	-7.29%	US$0.00	N/A
2	-7.60%	US$0.00	N/A
3	-6.90%	US$0.00	N/A
4	-4.81%	US$0.00	N/A
5	-3.37%	US$0.00	N/A
6	-0.85%	US$0.00	N/A
7	-1.37%	US$0.00	N/A
8	-3.90%	US$0.00	N/A
9	-3.35%	US$0.00	N/A
10	-9.85%	US$0.00	N/A
Maturity Payment		US$100.00

In this hypothetical scenario, the Closing Level is below the AutoCall Level on each Valuation Date, so the Deposit Notes are not automatically called by Bank of Montreal and a Holder would receive no Fixed Return. In addition, since the Closing Level on the Final Valuation Date is below the AutoCall Level, the Index Return is negative and a Holder would receive no Variable Return at Maturity. However, a Holder would receive a Maturity Payment equal to US$100.00 per Deposit Note, which is 100% of the Deposit Amount.

Bank of Montreal Solactive Canada Bank 40 (AR) Index AutoCallable Principal Protected Deposit Notes (USD), Series 119 (F-Class)

Scenario 2: Positive Scenario – Notes Called At Maturity

- AutoCall Level = 0%
 - The Closing Level is below the AutoCall Level on all Valuation Dates, but the Closing Level subsequently increases and the Final Level is above the AutoCall Level.

Example 2: Positive Return Example

Observation Date	Index Return	Fixed Return	Excess Return
Issue Date
1	-8.79%	US$0.00	N/A
2	-9.60%	US$0.00	N/A
3	-8.90%	US$0.00	N/A
4	-7.60%	US$0.00	N/A
5	-5.40%	US$0.00	N/A
6	-5.13%	US$0.00	N/A
7	-5.60%	US$0.00	N/A
8	-7.81%	US$0.00	N/A
9	-3.37%	US$0.00	N/A
10	9.26%	US$100.00	N/A
Maturity Payment		US$200.00

In this hypothetical scenario, the Closing Level is below the AutoCall Level on each Valuation Date, so the Deposit Notes would not be automatically called by Bank of Montreal. Since the Closing Level is above the AutoCall Level on the Final Valuation Date, the Index Return is positive and at Maturity, a Holder will receive the Deposit Amount, plus the applicable Variable Return. The Maturity Payment will be calculated as follows:

$$\begin{aligned}
 \text{Variable Return} &= \text{Deposit Amount} \times (\text{Fixed Return} + \text{Excess Return}) \\
 &= \text{US$100.00} \times (100.00\% + 0.00\%) \\
 &= \text{US$100.00 per Deposit Note}
 \end{aligned}$$

A Holder would receive a Maturity Payment of US$200.00 per Deposit Note on the Maturity Date (or an annualized return of 7.18%). An Index Return of 9.26% is less than the Fixed Return on the Final Valuation Date, so there is no Excess Return reflected in the Variable Return payable on the Call Date.

Bank of Montreal Solactive Canada Bank 40 (AR) Index AutoCallable Principal Protected Deposit Notes (USD), Series 119 (F-Class)

Scenario 3: Deposit Note Automatically Called

- AutoCall Level = 0%
 - The Closing Level is below the AutoCall Level on the first Valuation Date and then recovers so that the Closing Level is above the AutoCall Level on the second Valuation Date.

Observation Date	Index Return	Fixed Return	Excess Return
Issue Date
1	-3.79%	US$0.00	N/A
2	20.48%	20.00%	$(\text{Index Return} - 20\%) \times 5\% = 0.02\%$
3
4
5
6
7
8
9
10
Maturity Payment			US$120.02

In this hypothetical scenario, the Closing Level is above the AutoCall Level on the second Valuation Date, resulting in the Deposit Notes being automatically called by Bank of Montreal, so the Holders receive the Deposit Amount plus the applicable Variable Return on the Call Date. The Fixed Return for the second Valuation Date is 20.00%. The Maturity Payment will be calculated as follows:

$$\begin{aligned}
 \text{Excess Return} &= (\text{Index Return} - \text{Fixed Return}) \times 5\% \\
 &= (20.48\% - 20.00\%) \times 5\% \\
 &= 0.02\% \\
 \text{Variable Return} &= \text{Deposit Amount} \times (\text{Fixed Return} + \text{Excess Return}) \\
 &= \text{US$}100.00 \times (20.00\% + 0.02\%) \\
 &= \text{US$}20.02 \text{ per Deposit Note}
 \end{aligned}$$

A Holder would receive a Maturity Payment of US$120.02 per Deposit Note on the Call Date (or an annualized return of 9.56%).

No Secondary Market:

8. The Deposit Notes will not be listed on any stock exchange and neither Bank of Montreal nor any of its affiliates will establish or arrange for a secondary market for the sale of Deposit Notes prior to Maturity. Moreover, Bank of Montreal does not have the right to redeem (that is, buy or repay) the Deposit Notes prior to Maturity and investors do not have the right to require Bank of Montreal to redeem the Deposit Notes prior to Maturity. The Deposit Notes are intended to be instruments held to Maturity with their principal being payable on the Maturity Date.

Early Trading Charge:

9. No early trading charge will apply to the sale of a Deposit Note at any time after the closing of the Offering.

Tax Consequences:

10. The Canadian income tax consequences of investing in Deposit Notes are described in the Information Statement. However, in summary, (i) if you hold Deposit Notes on a Call Date or at maturity, you will be required to include in your income the amount, if any, by which the payment on a Call Date or at maturity exceeds the Deposit Amount, and (ii) on a disposition of a Deposit Note by you prior to maturity, you will be required to include in income as accrued interest the amount, if any, by which the price for which the Deposit Note was disposed of exceeds the Deposit Amount.
11. The Deposit Notes are denominated in U.S. dollars. For the purposes of the Tax Act, all U.S. dollar amounts relating to the acquisition, holding or disposition of a Deposit Note must generally be expressed in Canadian dollars using the appropriate exchange rate determined in accordance with the detailed rules in the Tax Act in that regard. As a result, an Initial Holder may realize income, capital gains or capital losses by virtue of fluctuations in the value of the U.S. dollar relative to the Canadian dollar.

Risk Factors:

12. The Deposit Notes may not be suitable for all investors and in deciding whether to invest in Deposit Notes you should take into account various risks associated with such an investment. The Information Statement contains a complete description of these risks, which include the following:

Suitability

An investment in the Deposit Notes may be suitable and appropriate for you if you are prepared to: invest for an uncertain term from one to ten years; receive the Deposit Amount at Maturity if the Deposit Notes are not automatically called by Bank of Montreal prior to Maturity and the Closing Level on the Final Valuation Date is less than the AutoCall Level; receive the Deposit Amount and a Variable Return and no further payments if the Deposit Notes are automatically called by Bank of Montreal; obtain exposure to the Index, the performance of which may not match the performance of a direct investment in the constituent securities of the Underlying Index; and accept the risks set out under "Risk Factors" in the Information Statement, including the risks associated with the performance of the Index.

Non-Conventional Deposit Notes

The Deposit Notes are not conventional instruments or debt securities in that they do not provide you with a return or income stream prior to Maturity, or a return at Maturity, that is calculated by reference to a specific fixed or floating rate of interest that can be determined prior to the Final Valuation Date. The return on the Deposit Notes, unlike that on many deposit liabilities of Canadian chartered banks, is uncertain and the Deposit Notes could provide no return.

Deposit Notes May Pay No Return

Holders may not receive a Variable Return on their Deposit Notes. Whether Holders receive a Variable Return and, if so, how much of a Variable Return will depend on the performance of the Index.

Variable Return May Be Limited

Since the Variable Return for each Deposit Note, if any, will equal the Fixed Return plus the Excess Return, of the percentage change, if positive, of the Index from the Trade Date to and including the Final Valuation Date, a Holder's exposure under the Deposit Notes to the Index is not the same as an investment in the Securities and therefore the Variable Return that may be payable at Maturity may be less than the return realized from a direct investment in the Securities.

Currency Risk

The Deposit Notes are denominated in U.S. dollars and all payments owing under the Deposit Notes will be made in U.S. dollars. An investment in the Deposit Notes should be made with an understanding that the Deposit Amount and the variable return, if any, payable at Maturity (or any Variable Return Early Payment Amount) will be denominated and payable in U.S. dollars. To the extent other assets or income of a Holder are denominated in another currency, such as the Canadian dollar, an investment in the Deposit Notes will entail foreign exchange-related risks due to, among other factors, possible significant changes in the value of such currency relative to the U.S. dollar because of economic, political and other factors. Appreciation of the Canadian dollar against the U.S. dollar could result in a loss to a Holder on a Canadian dollar basis. Non-Canadian investors who are not U.S. persons or based in the United States could be subject to comparable exchange rate-related risks. In addition, for the purposes of the Tax Act, all U.S. dollar amounts must generally be expressed in Canadian dollars. See "Certain Canadian Federal Income Tax Considerations — Currency Conversion" in the Information Statement.

Automatic Call Feature

The Deposit Notes will be automatically called by Bank of Montreal if the Closing Level is equal to or above the AutoCall Level on any Valuation Date. If the Deposit Notes are automatically called by Bank of Montreal, Holders will receive the Deposit Amount plus the applicable Variable Return on the Call Date, and the Deposit Notes will be cancelled and Holders will not be entitled to receive any subsequent payments in respect of the Deposit Notes.

Risk Factors Relating to the Securities, the Index, the Underlying Index and the Companies

The Variable Return, if any, payable on the Deposit Notes is based on the performance of the Index. Accordingly, certain risk factors applicable to investors who invest directly in the Index, or the Securities are also applicable to an investment in the Deposit Notes to the extent that such risk factors could adversely affect the performance of the Index.

Holders should recognize that it is impossible to know whether the Closing Level at any time will rise or fall. The Closing Level will be influenced by the performance of the Index and the performance of the Underlying Index will be impacted by changes in the market prices of the Securities and the outlook for the applicable Companies and by general economic, industry and market trends. These factors are beyond the control of Bank of Montreal. Historical performance of the Index and the Securities should not be considered as an indication of the future performance of the Index or the Securities.

The Index was established on January 27, 2022 and therefore has limited history to evaluate its likely performance. Past performance of the Index is not indicative of future performance of the Index.

The return on the Deposit Notes is calculated with reference to the performance of the Index which aims to track the gross total return performance of the Underlying Index subject to the Adjusted Return Factor. Although the Underlying Index is a gross total return index that reflects the applicable performance of the constituent securities of the Underlying Index and any dividends and distributions paid in respect of such securities, without deduction of any withholding tax or other amounts to which an investor holding the constituent securities of the Underlying Index would typically be exposed, an investment in the Deposit Notes is not the same as making a direct investment in the constituent securities of the Underlying Index, including the fact that an investor will not have the right to receive any dividends, distributions or other income or amounts accruing or paid on such securities. In addition, the Adjusted Return Factor is not representative of an estimate or a forecast of any dividends that may be paid or payable, or of any distributions that may be made, now or in the future on the constituent securities of the Underlying Index.

You should also recognize that the Index Sponsor has no obligations with respect to the Deposit Notes or to you and that changes to the policies of the Index Sponsor could affect amounts payable on the Deposit Notes. In addition, the Index could be replaced with a replacement index by the Index Sponsor.

None of the Bank, BMO Capital Markets or their respective affiliates or associates has performed any due diligence investigation or review of any of the Index, the Underlying Index, the securities included in the Underlying Index (the "Securities") or the issuers of the Securities (the "Companies"). Any information relating to the Index, the Underlying Index, the Securities or the Companies was derived from and based solely upon publicly available sources and its accuracy cannot be guaranteed. None of the Bank, BMO Capital Markets or any of their respective affiliates or associates has any obligations or responsibility for the provision of future information in respect of the Index, the Underlying Index, the Securities or the Companies. Investors shall have no recourse against the Bank, BMO Capital Markets or any of their respective affiliates or associates in connection with any information about and/or relating to the Index, the Underlying Index, the Securities or the Companies that is not contained in the Information Statement. Prospective investors should undertake an independent investigation to determine if an investment in the Deposit Notes is suitable for them. None of the Companies or the Index Sponsor has participated in the preparation of the Information Statement and the Deposit Notes are not in any way sponsored, endorsed, sold or promoted by any of the Companies or the Index Sponsor.

No Secondary Trading of Deposit Notes

The Deposit Notes will not be listed on any stock exchange and neither Bank of Montreal nor any of its affiliates will establish or arrange for a secondary market for the sale of Deposit Notes prior to Maturity.

The Deposit Notes are intended to be instruments held to Maturity with their principal being payable on the Maturity Date.

Legislative, Regulatory and Administrative Changes

Changes in laws, regulations or administrative practices, including with respect to taxation, could have an impact on you.

The Bail-In Regulations, which came into effect in September 2018, prescribe the types of shares and liabilities that will be subject to a Bail-In Conversion. In general, any senior debt with an initial or amended term to Maturity (including explicit or embedded options) greater than 400 days, that is unsecured or partially secured and has been assigned a CUSIP or ISIN or similar identification number would be subject to a Bail-In Conversion. Shares, other than common shares, and subordinated debt would also be subject to a Bail-In Conversion, unless they are non-viability contingent capital. However, structured notes meeting the requirements of the Bail-In Regulations will not be subject to a Bail-In Conversion. Accordingly, it is not expected that these Deposit Notes will be subject to a Bail-In Conversion.

Conflicts of Interest

In the course of normal business operations, Bank of Montreal and BMO Capital Markets may hold interests linked to the Companies. Conflicts may also arise because Bank of Montreal may engage in trading activities related to the Companies and the Securities that are not for the account of Holders or on their behalf which may present a conflict between the Holders' interest in the Deposit Notes and the interests that Bank of Montreal will have in their proprietary accounts in facilitating transactions. Such trading activities could be adverse to the interests of the Holders. Subsidiaries of Bank of Montreal have published, and in the future expect to publish, research reports with respect to some or all of the Securities. This research is modified from time to time and may express opinions or provide recommendations that are inconsistent with purchasing or holding the Deposit Notes. If Bank of Montreal or BMO Capital Markets take any such actions, Bank of Montreal and BMO Capital Markets will not necessarily take into account the effect, if any, that such actions could have on the Deposit Notes or the return that may be payable on the Deposit Notes.

Credit Rating

There is no assurance that the Deposit Notes, if rated, would receive the same rating as other deposit liabilities of Bank of Montreal.

Credit Risk

The likelihood that you will receive all the payments owing to you under the Deposit Notes will depend on the financial health and creditworthiness of Bank of Montreal.

No Deposit Insurance

Unlike conventional bank deposits, the Deposit Notes are not insured under the Canada Deposit Insurance Corporation Act or any other deposit insurance regime designed to ensure that depositors receive payment of all or a portion of their deposits if the deposit taking financial institution becomes insolvent.

Canadian Investor Protection Fund

There is no assurance that your investment in the Deposit Notes will be eligible for protection under the Canadian Investor Protection Fund.

Special Circumstances (Extraordinary Event)

In certain circumstances, BMO Capital Markets may, as it determines appropriate, (i) adjust the components or variables in calculating the Maturity Payment (ii) defer the timing of the determination of the Closing Price of the Securities or the calculation of the Maturity Payment (iii) change the Securities, or (iv) on the occurrence of an Extraordinary Event, instead of paying the Maturity Payment at Maturity, pay the estimated present value on the occurrence of the Extraordinary Event of such Maturity Payment, that would have been payable at Maturity if the Extraordinary Event had not occurred. See "Special Circumstances" in the Information Statement for a discussion of these circumstances.

No Independent Calculation

Bank of Montreal has no obligation to retain an independent person to make or confirm the determinations and calculations made in respect of the Deposit Notes.

No Ownership of the Index or the Securities

You will have no rights of ownership in the Index or any Securities. The Deposit Notes do not represent a substitute for an investment in the Securities.
